

FELIWAY® Diffuser

The new convenient way to manage symptoms of stress in cats.

Stress in cats

When a cat feels safe in its environment, it rubs its head against the furniture, the corners of walls or the bottom of the curtains, leaving substances called facial pheromones. These pheromones convey a message of well-being, calm and absence of stress.

When there are changes in the cats environment (such as visits to the vets, return from hospitalisation, moving house, new arrivals, rearrangement of furniture) or if the cat is scared, a state of disquiet or stress may develop. This state can be conveyed by changes in behaviour, such as urine marking, vertical scratching, loss of appetite or refusal to play and to interact.

FELIWAY® Diffuser

In these situations, FELIWAY® Diffuser can be used to restore the natural balance. FELIWAY® Diffuser is a safe solution of feline facial pheromone. FELIWAY® Diffuser mimics the cat's facial pheromones, creating a state of well-being and calm.

The active ingredient is released through an electric device allowing reactions to stressful situations to be controlled.

Reactions to stress expressed as:

- Urine marking
- Vertical scratching
- Loss of appetite
- Reduced desire to play
- Reduced desire to interact...
